Social Distancing in Worship

To accommodate the great attendance at our 9 AM Traditional Worship service, we have removed the social distancing guidelines for the first six pews. Worshippers will be allowed to sit in every pew in the first six pews, only. In the remainder of the sanctuary we will continue to only allow seating in every other pew for the time being.

High school youth group this Sunday! Email Adam or message me for the address and location. I hope to see you all for Games at Schlett's this Sunday from 5 to 7 PM.

Summer Celebration, Sunday, June 27

We don't want to prematurely say the US pandemic is over, but we are certainly in a better place. Our church community weathered this ferocious storm while supporting those who got very sick, grieving members and the family of members who died and encouraging those who were most isolated. Through it all our ministry to love each other and our neighbor continues and worship came from our sanctuary every Sunday.

Let's take a breath and give thanks on Sunday, June 27. Worship Director Tyler Driggs and I are planning two special outdoor worship services at 9 and 11. We will sing rousing songs of thanksgiving and lift up prayers for continued healing. Between the services from 10 AM to 11, we will have food and games. Chef Marty is making a great big fruit bowl for all and we are getting hooked up with a ton of donut holes. Bring a brunch/breakfast sort of plate to pass if you can. Children and Youth Ministers, Dawn and Adam will have some games for adults and families, too. Some activities include water balloons.

Robin Vanover and Kristin McAllister will need some volunteers to help serve up food in a way that limits contact, so contact the church office today to tell us you can help.

We deserve a party. Put worship and Fellowship on your calendar for June 27. I will be leading and preaching that Sunday, too, having arrived back from Alaska by that time. I can't wait to see all of you then.

Peace,
Pastor Karl

Thank you to all who came to my 100th birthday celebration at Huber Park June 14 and to all who sent Happy Birthday cards and emails.

MCS Director Lisa Powers Retiring

This was the last week for our Messiah Christian School Director, Lisa Powers. Lisa began with Messiah over ten years ago in our lunch program. Her organizational skills and business acumen were quickly noticed. She was moved into the office where she became first the secretary then the assistant director. She took over leadership of the preschool about four years ago.

Lisa's dedication and long hours are well known at Messiah. Her car is usually the last in the parking lot. Her passion for our families is appreciated. Daily she greets or sends off all of the children as they get picked up. Lisa has helped Messiah find ways to increase substantially the compensation for our teachers, plus add to their training so they are the best gift for our children. Her insistence on quality has led to our school being at or near capacity every year with waiting lists, while schools around us have closed.

Everyone at Messiah owes Lisa our gratitude. She has made our school a sought after option in Reynoldsburg. Her creativity and positive attitude allowed Messiah's school to survive the pandemic. She has been an excellent servant of Christ. I know I have been honored and appreciative of the chance to serve beside.

God's Peace, Lisa
